

What does a typical complaint look like that is filed in an automobile claim?

COUNT I

1. For that on or about July 9, 2005 the Plaintiff, Fred Victim was traveling southbound on Fayette Street near its intersection with Hanover Street when he was struck in the rear by a motor vehicle operated by the Defendant, Michelle Brooks, agent servant and employee of the owner of the vehicle, Defendant, Stacey Johnson.

2. That as a result of said collision the Plaintiff, Fred Victim, was painfully and permanently injured about the head, body and limbs, suffered shock to his nervous system, incurred hospital and medical expenses, lost time from work and was otherwise injured.

3. The Plaintiff, Fred Victim, alleges that the Defendants were negligent in that they failed to yield the right of way, failed to obey a traffic control device, traveled at an excessive rate of speed, failed to allow enough stopping distance between their vehicle and the vehicle in front of them, and the Defendant were otherwise negligent.

4. The Plaintiff, Fred Victim, alleges that all of his injuries, damages and losses were caused directly by the negligence of the Defendants without any negligence on the part of the Plaintiff thereunto contributing.

WHEREFORE, the Plaintiff, Fred Victim, claims Seven Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($7,500.00) damages.

COUNT II

1. The Plaintiff, John Sweeney, incorporates by reference all the allegations in Count I as though fully restated and further alleges.

2. That at the time of the accident the vehicle which the Plaintiff, Fred Victim, was driving was owned by the Plaintiff, John Sweeney, and as a result of said accident the vehicle suffered property damage.

3. The Plaintiff, John Sweeney, alleges that all of his injuries, damages and losses were caused directly by the negligence of the Defendants without any negligence on the part of the Plaintiff thereunto contributing.

WHEREFORE, the Plaintiff, John Sweeney claims Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($2,500.00) damages.